Get a Clue

The UVU Library wants you to Get a Clue! From August 20-September 18, UVU Students, Staff, and Faculty can design clues throughout the library to solve a mystery as well as discover the many resources available at the Library!

How to Play:
1. Listen to the Library's Get a Clue podcast to get started. The podcast is available for the players located at the bottom of UVU Library's web page or from the podcast page at www.uvu.edu/library/podcast.
2. Pick up a game piece. You will receive a clue to the location on the piece.
3. Use the clue throughout the library to eliminate people, places, and facts, and solve the mystery.
4. Submit the completed game piece identifying the person, place, and item at the location identified in the last clue.
5. Make sure you are registered at the Circulation Desk! You must be registered to win.
6. Check back on the library's website or Facebook page to see if you've won! Prizes will be awarded each week from a random drawing of correct entries.

RULES:
1. One entry per person
2. Only entries with correct answers clearly marked will be entered into the drawing
3. Winning participants must be registered with the UVU Library
4. The contest will run from August 20, 2009 to September 18, 2009. Late entries will not be accepted.
5. The contest is open to UVU students, faculty and staff.

Winners will be posted to the Library's website and Facebook page each Friday of the contest. Prizes must be claimed by Thursday following the drawing or the prize will be given to another contestant.

Analysis Of Exhibit B:
Library Video Surveillance

Video surveillance shows that during the time of the theft, the tech aide left the Reference Desk to assist a student scan a number of unidentified documents and books using one of the Library’s four scanners. Analysis reveals the student commenting on the Library’s collection of more than 144,000 books. However, the student reported a “ruckus” to the aide.

SCHMOLMES’S NOTE: Determine where the Library keeps its books. Investigate “ruckus.”

Analysis of Exhibit B: Library Video Surveillance

One of the librarians is missing! Jessie McGuffin was scheduled to be on the reference desk bright and early at 8:00 this morning, but McGuffin never showed. Inspector Dutch has volunteered for the case. Help us find our missing librarian by following her trail through the library.

Video surveillance shows that our missing librarian was last seen yesterday evening, helping a student find articles using one of the more than 120 computers the Library makes available to UVU’s students.

DUTCH’S NOTE: Wow! 120 computers! Determine where the Library keeps these computers. Find witnesses.
GET A CLUE

The UVU Library wants you to Get a Clue! From August 29-September 16, UVU Students, Staff, and Faculty can decipher clues throughout the library to solve a mystery as well as discover the many resources available at the Library!

HOW TO PLAY:

1. Go to the 1st Floor Circulation Desk.
2. Pick up a game piece. You will receive a clue to the next location.
3. Use the clues throughout the library to eliminate locations and find where the missing Librarian, is solving the mystery.
4. Bring the game piece to the last location given in your final clue to receive the mark of the finished game.

RULES:

1. Only game pieces with correct answers will be marked as completed.
2. You may complete the game with your fellow classmates or on your own.
3. While completing the task at hand with or without your classmates, please keep voices low as students are trying to study.

Audiovisual Collection

The 2nd floor houses the audiovisual collection. Documentaries and movies are in call number order from A to Z. CDs and music scores are located south of the video section. The viewing/listening tables have Blu-ray players, DVD/VHS players, and all region/international DVD players. The media viewing rooms, to the north, can be reserved in advance for groups to watch movies.

Circulation

The Circulation Desks are the place to go to check out your books and videos. You can find a selection of textbooks at the 1st Floor Circulation Desk, as well as media equipment including digital cameras, voice recorders, and more! Have questions about accessing course readings on Electronic Reserve? Feel free to ask at either the 1st or 2nd Floor Circulation Desk.

Self-Check out Machine

A self-check out machine can be found on the 4th floor, near the elevators and the Regular Collection. The Regular Collection contains over 145,000 titles, arranged in call number order from A to Z. Search the Library catalog to get the call number for books on your topic.

Information Commons

The Information Commons houses more than 120 computers available for students. They are equipped with internet access, OpenOffice, and Microsoft Office. The Macs are loaded with Adobe Creative Suite, Photoshop, Final Cut Pro, and more. Black and white printers and a color printer are available.

Periodicals

Journals, magazines, and newspapers in print are kept on the 3rd floor. More than 50,000 titles are available in electronic and print format. Electronic articles are accessible from the Library homepage. Older issues are located on the compact (or movable) shelving at the north end of the 3rd floor.

Reference Desk

The Reference Desk, the large circular desk located on the 1st floor in the middle of the Information Commons, is the best place to ask for help. Reference Librarians will help with any research need. Need some computer help? Ask a tech aide! Tech aides are at the Reference Desk every hour that the Library is open and are trained to help with any computer problems.

Study Rooms

The Library offers 29 group study rooms for small groups of two to four or large groups of up to ten. Individuals may use the rooms, but priority is given to groups. Study rooms are located on the 3rd, 4th, and 5th floors. Media Viewing rooms are on the 2nd floor. Schedule rooms in advance from the Library’s web site.

Writing Center

Located in L1 208, the UVU Writing Center provides a space where students can improve their writing skills. The resources and services include: one-on-one tutorials, writing workshops, handouts, practice tests, test resources, and trained tutors. The Writing Center also provides handouts and assistance on major citation styles, such as MLA and APA.

“Just tell me what the book was called.”

“It was called A Medieval Book of Beasts. But you’re going to need more than a book to defeat her, no matter how much the book weighs. Might I suggest a nice pointy sword? I know a guy...”

“No, thanks.”
SCHEDULE A GROUP STUDY ROOM

The Library has 29 Group Study Rooms located throughout the building. Group Study Rooms can seat two to four students and the Large Group Study Rooms can handle up to 10. Media viewing rooms are also available on the second floor (use policy).

Before you schedule one of these rooms, read our usage policy.

> Priority is given to groups.
> Students and groups may only reserve a room for up to four hours per 24 hour period.
> Rooms may only be reserved up to four days in advance.
> If you do not receive an email confirmation, your reservation is not complete.
> Food purchased off campus (such as pizza) is not allowed in the study rooms.

Reservations that do not comply with these guidelines will be deleted. Group study names should follow common decency standards. Reservations with inappropriate names will be deleted.

For more information, see our study room policy and building use policy.

Reserve a Group Study Room

The dragon has been spotted near the university! Grabbing your books and your weapons, you hurry to the scene. The dread Ignorantía has left behind a terrible mess. Wizard hats and torn pages are everywhere. You can hear the students talking amongst themselves inside the local tavern.

“Not another one! Who was it this time?”

“Jeff the Bookworm. Ruddy dragon got him as he was headed out for a quick bite.”

“Guess he got his quick bite after all... What? Too soon?”
